Speaking Sternly . . . by David Stern

Predictions for 1969

WARNING: Taking these predictions seriously may be hazardous to your mental health. In fact, merely reading them may have some long-range consequences that are only now being investigated.

January: Hong Kong flu shuts down all activity in Greenbelt. Disaster headquarters set up in armory by Civil Defense, Red Cross distributes soup, C rations and blankets to unfortunate victims. County Sheriff's militia rushed in to prevent civil disorders.

February: "Playboy" publishes lengthy article, "The Rape of Greenbelt," with the subject illustrated at length in the centerfold and in depth elsewhere in the magazine. 138 irate letters to the editor include note by Mayor pointing out that pictures were not taken in Greenbelt.

Piles of fall leaves left for litter-gitter in November finally picked up.

March: New library opens. In accordance with old GHI tradition, main entrance is in rear, front one being for show only.

April: State Roads Commission notifies council that due to an error in drawing up the original map, the municipal building is actually located across the public right of way.

In reply, council reminds SRC that the same map shows the Beltway smack across Greenbelt Lake. SRC cables council to forget about the whole thing.

May: FBI uncovers gambling ring in Goddard, ending widespread betting on the daily number of smashups at the Glenn Dale - Southway intersection. A traffic light is firmly budgeted for that location for late 1973, with possible delays of no more than three years, four at the most.

June: Greenbelt Historical Society uncovers new evidence that Eleanor Roosevelt never stood on or even under the tree on Crescent Rd. around which her monument was built. The correct tree is found standing next to the rear parking lot of the firehouse, by the right of way of Crescent Rd. according to the original mapping.

July: Celebrations of the 4th of July are capped by the opening of a new city park of 3.3 acres. Mayor praises developer who donated the land, saying that the event signifies a new era in builder-developer, planner and city cooperation.

August: New Lutheran Church opens on Greenbelt Road. Main access to building is from small door in the rear (front doors termed "just decorative").

"Speaking Sternly" nominated for Pulitzer Prize.

Construction of the nation's first high rise shopping center begins on the "Golden Triangle."

September: Labor day parade features Jackie and Ari Onassis. "You have a cute little town here," says Mr. Onassis. "How much would it cost to buy it?"

SRC announces that right of way of proposed circumferential highway will have to be changed, since the map shows it already occupied by the Baltimore Parkway.

October: Greenbelt becomes a national household word as Rowan and Martin introduce the Greenbelt joke.

Sheriff's militia successfully prevent civil disturbances during Halloween night.

Council announces that, contrary to rumors, there will be one leaf collection every year, whether needed or not. As in past years, to heighten the surprise, its time will be kept secret.

November: SRC announces that preliminary planning for a new access road to Springhill Lake will begin no later than December 1980.

Rowan and Martin give Greenbelt Flying Fickle Finger of Fate award.

Television crew from ABC appears in town as network reveals that it is working on a "more entertaining" replacement for Peyton Place.

Widespread indignation as JCC opens new building with main entrance in front.

December: Landslide at Beltway Plaza narrowly misses Santa, buries three reindeer.

Chairman Mao warns his citizens about impending epidemic of American flu, spread by a particularly virulent new virus first isolated in Greenbelt early in the year.

New Lutheran Church Now Half Completed

by Edward H. Birner, Pastor

With most of the laminated arches now in place, the new sanctuary for Holy Cross Lutheran congregation is about halfway completed. Work on the $300,000 project, located at 6905 Greenbelt Road, began last spring. The congregation expects to dedicate the facility sometime next summer.

The sanctuary, of contemporary design, is marked with a steep roof having intersecting planes, complemented by flat roof, peripheral projections. The exterior walls of the building are brick with stone trim and a cut stone facade on the chapel portion of the structure. The chapel, at this time, will be used for educational and social purposes.

The nave interior will have a lofty natural plank ceiling and natural finish wood beams and arches. The nave walls will be of painted masonry. Walls of the offices, narthex, chapel, nursery, and hall ways will be of brick. Glazed tile will be used in all rest room facilities.

The nave of the church is designed to seat over 400 people at each worship service. A balcony, seating 50, has been provided for the choir and organ. A nursery room will provide refuge for mothers with small children, but still enable them to participate in the worship services.

The chancel of the church is located at the east end of the nave. The clergy sacristy is located to the north of the chancel; the working sacristy is to the south. The mechanical and equipment rooms are located at the east end of the building.

Access to the church will be from a circular drive at the west end of the building. Two walkways will lead to the main entrances. The church offices, with large plate glass windows overlooking a small garden, are located between the main entrances. A parking lot for 150 cars will be located west of the driveway.

The overall long-range plans call for educational wings and other supplementary administrative additions to utilize the congregations spacious site.

The church was designed by Ronald S. Senseman, A.I.A., of Washington, D.C. The general contractor is the E. A. Baker, Co., of Takoma Park.

WOUNDED GREENBELTER IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Thomas A. Oliver, 21, of 34 Crescent, is in critical condition in Prince Georges General Hospital after being shot in the neck by a County policeman Saturday, Dec. 28.

Police said Oliver was shot by Pvt. George E. Kramer, 24, when the youth fled the Seat Pleasant police station, where he had been charged with disorderly conduct. Police said Oliver apparently had been drinking and went to the station seeking a ride to his home.

Oliver was charged with disorderly conduct after he became engaged in a scuffle and struck Kramer, police said. The officer fired two warning shots before felling Oliver with a third as he fled into the station parking lot, police said.

Kramer was suspended from his duties pending an investigation of the incident.

Ten Top Stories of 1968

In accordance with its annual custom, the Greenbelt News Review has selected the following as the ten top Greenbelt stories of 1968, listed in the approximate order of their occurrence.

—Maryland's Court of Appeals rules 4-1 against Greenbelt Homes, Inc. in the latter's suit seeking to enjoin the Prince Georges County Board of Education from constructing a senior high school on parcel 2—land between GHI property and Baltimore-Washington Parkway.

—The Greenbelt News Review appeals a $17,500 libel judgment awarded local developer Charles S. Bresler by a Prince Georges Circuit Court jury. Community raises $20,000 to cover judgment while suit is appealed to Maryland's highest court.

—Council adopts $815,100 budget for 1968-69, with a reduction in the tax rate for the third straight year—to a new low of $0.85 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

—Council recommends approval of commercial office (C-O) zoning for 25 acres of Springhill Lake property north of the Beltway and west of Kenilworth Ave. Request for C-2 (general commercial) zoning for construction of motel and gas station on additional 6.8 acres acceptable to council only after owner representatives (Edward Perkins and Harold Kramer) guarantee that property will be developed as promised and offer buffer zone to screen gas station.

—Revised Area 13 North plan (prepared by Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission) meets general approval of council as in keeping with major goal of preserving Greenbelt as a planned low-density residential community. In support of this position, council (1) rejects commercial zoning for parcel 8 near Boxwood Village and R-18 zoning for Lakeside North tract; (2) urges rerouting of perimeter road through school board property; and (3) opposes Jaeger tract land swap which would put commercial center at corner of Greenbelt Road and Kenilworth Ave.

—Under auspices of Greenbelt Woman's Club and spearheaded by the efforts of Mrs. Carnie Harper and James C. Smith, the Anna Eleanor Roosevelt Memorial Tree located on Crescent Road near the Lake is dedicated in memory of the First Lady who had such a continuing interest in the community.

—By a 2 to 1 margin, the electorate approves $950,000 bond issue which will be used to finance Youth Center addition, Springhill Lake recreation building, acquisition of parcels 7 and 8 and other parkland, development of park facilities, acquisition of rights-of-way for perimeter road, and improvements in present roadway.

—In contrast to previous years, growth of city in core is minimal and confined mainly to public construction such as start of (1) $160,000 municipal service building; (2) $800,000 public library; and (3) $50,000 addition to fire house. In addition, wings at Center and North End Schools are completed.

—Charles S. Bresler ordered by Prince Georges Circuit Court to convey 3.3 acres of Charlestown tract to city of Greenbelt, as promised in original agreement signed in April 1962.

—Town-meeting democracy prevails in Greenbelt as large turnouts influence decisions on gun-control legislation, revision of community goals, and a GHI capital improvements program. The latter program is approved at a membership meeting which was called, for the first time in GHI's history, to consider an increase in monthly charges of 10 percent or more.

Greenbelters Take Part In Apollo 8 Mission

Two local Greenbelt men employed at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center played key roles in the historic Apollo 8 mission last month: William F. Edgar, of 8625 Glenn Dale Road; and David J. Richards, of 9153 Springhill Lane. As head of the Engineering Instruction and Documentation Support Section of Goddard's Manned Flight Engineering Division, Edgar is responsible for accurate and orderly technical documentation of the Manned Space Flight Network.

Richards, as a member of the Systems Operations Branch of Goddard's Manned Flight Operations Division, coordinated the technical activities of the Network Support Team. This team provided around-the-clock control of the Manned Space Flight Network.

The Goddard Space Flight Center is responsible for the operation of the worldwide NASA Manned Space Flight Network. This network consists of 14 ground stations, four instrumented ships and five instrumented aircraft which provide telemetry, tracking, command and voice communications with the Apollo spacecraft. All Apollo network sites are connected by two million miles of circuitry called the NASA Communications Network (NASCOM). Data from the Apollo 8 capsule and the world-wide system of tracking stations was processed at Goddard in "real-time."

Evaluation of this General Assembly Session.

CONSUMER PROTECTION SUGGESTED BY CONROY

State Senator Edward T. Conroy (Dem. Prince George's) by letter this week suggested to the County Commissioners the establishment of an office for Consumer Affairs in Prince George's County.

Some two years ago Conroy drafted and spearheaded the bill creating Maryland's Office of Consumer Protection.

A broad consumer protection law requiring licensing of the merchants who offer long term credit is in the process of passing the Washington City Council. The proposal is designed to crack down on high credit abuses in the District of Columbia.

With a county office working with the State office and the District of Columbia office, the consumer will receive the maximum broad benefit protection according to the Maryland Senator.

A REVIEW OF EVENTS IN GREENBELT IN 1943

The opening of a new food store, a new school and the continuing war effort highlighted events of 1943 for Greenbelters. The town was six years old and had grown to a population of 8,000 with the completion and occupancy of the Defense Homes. . .

Many classes in the Elementary School (now Center School) were on double shifts, due to the influx of children from the new Defense Homes. Enrollment had jumped from 450 the previous year to 811 and war priorities precluded use of materials for a new building. The solution was conversion of six units at 53 Ridge into a school for 200 kindergartners, first and second graders from the North End. . .

Similarly, the war prevented building a new store for North Enders who had no transportation to the center of town, and had in some cases to walk a mile to the existing stores. Four units in the 3 block of Laurel Hill Road were converted into a small G.C.S. food store. . .

Everyone was involved in the war effort. Rationing was in effect for gasoline, automobile tires, shoes, sugar, coffee, butter, and canned fruits and vegetables. Volunteer work included selling of War Bonds, roof-top airplane spotting, salvage of used tin cans and newspapers, air-raid warning drills and blackout practices, First Aid courses and home nursing classes and making of surgical dressings. . .

A citizens group protested rent increases imposed by the Federal Public Housing Administration in June, but to no avail. However, a plea to reduce rents for the families of inducted servicemen to 20% of the family income was successful. . .

Four rooms at 14 Parkway were opened as a child care center for the children of working mothers. . .

Various cutbacks in bus service from Mt. Rainier to Branchville were proposed by the Capital Transit company, but vigorous action by the city fathers forestalled such action. . .

Town Manager Roy Braden resigned his position in October, and was replaced by James T. Gobbel. One of Gobbel's first and most popular actions was to rescind the "clothesline curfew" which had forbidden use of clotheslines after 4 p.m. and on Sundays. . .

A flu epidemic in December claimed 1200 victims and caused cancellation of many Christmas events. . .

Wishing You a Happy New Year

(to be sung to the tune of "There is Nothing Like a Dame")

It has been a year of action
With a lot of work to do
Riot troops were in the Armory
And the News-Review ball, too
We got higher income taxes
At the polls we stood in line
Be glad it's over—
It's 1969!

Wishing you a happy year
May your troubles be few
Peace and joy will both be here
And your wishes may all come true.

We got bonds for rapid transit
Got a charter on its way
We have mised the constitution
(but will try again some day)
We had lawsuits and rezonings
Petty squabbles quite a lot
Things might be better—
Or else, they might not!

Wishing you a happy year
Better than those past
Wishing you, Greenbelt dear
That your fortunes will improve at last.

Our prices all got higher
Our dollars — less and less
Our cities were on fire
And the world still in a mess
Our students wrecked the campus
Our spacemen passed the moon
What do we need?
Some peace real soon!

Wishing you a happy year
Nineteen Sixty Nine
Wishing peace on earth were here
Wishing happiness once more would shine

Nothing thrills like peace
Stomachs fills like peace
Nothing beams like peace
Fills men's dreams like peace
Nothing more would all of us please
This year one thing should increase
Just a little bit, just a piece
— of peace!

Missing Girl Sought

To the Editor:

Will you, please, help us find our daughter? My wife and I are directing this plea to you and to the ten thousand other newspapers in the cities, towns, and hamlets of this country.

Our daughter, Elizabeth Lurene (Liz) Earnstein, was just two months short of her fifteenth birthday when she vanished without a trace last March 18.

She was last seen walking home from school along a lonely tree-lined street amid the orange groves of suburban Redlands. In her arms, she carried a blue notebook and a red algebra textbook.

Since then, law enforcement agencies, family members, and friends have spent countless hours tracking down hundreds of tentative leads. But to no avail. Not one single, slender clue has brightened all our efforts. Seemingly, Liz has disappeared like a breath of air on a winter's day.

If you have any information about our daughter, please notify us. Thank you.

Through arrangements with the Prince George's County Library there will be a viewing of the film "The Parable". There will be refreshments and a door prize. Guests and visitors are cordially invited.

The Police Blotter

On December 26, at 1:30 p.m., there was an attempted armed robbery at the rental office of the University Square apartments. The police have a lookout for a white male suspect, 25-30 years old, about 150 lbs., 5' 10" or 5' 11", clean shaven with dark hair combed straight back, dark eyes which drooped as if tired, left eye teared frequently, and possibly a narcotics user. A composite picture made up from witnesses statements has also been sent out on a wanted flyer.

The above suspect entered the rental office and demanded money at gunpoint. Upon learning there was no money kept at the office, he left. When last seen, he was wearing a maroon three-quarter-length car coat, dark trousers, and carried a 22-caliber revolver or automatic.

On December 28, at 7 a.m. an officer in a patrol car observed a Volkswagen with out-of-state plates fail to stop at a stop sign at Creseent and Southway. The officer finally pulled the car over at 47 Ridge and found a white male with a loaded 45 caliber automatic pistol and extra ammunition in the car. The man was taken to the police station where he became belligerent when charged with traffic violations. As the officer looked further into the suspect's history, he found that the man was a voluntary out-patient at Spring Grove Hospital. When the suspect agreed to return to Spring Grove for treatment, he was released and escorted there.

AMA Cautions Snow-Shovelers

The American Medical Association suggests that if you have any doubts as to your physical fitness hire someone else to shovel your snow this winter or use power equipment.

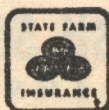

Even if you are physically fit, there are several precautions you should take to avoid unnecessary strain and accidents:

1. Use a small shovel, filling it only partly.
2. Push the snow, if possible, rather than lifting it.
3. Wear a cold-weather mask or cover the face with several layers of knit scarf. This warming of inhaled air is particularly important in avoiding the aggravation of an existing heart condition.
4. Do the job in stages, resting periodically.
5. Wear footwear that is not likely to slip on icy surfaces.

Second-Class Postal Rates Increase Jan. 1

Postal rates for newspapers, magazines and other material mailed at the second-class rate will be increased January 1, Postmaster Emory A. Harman reminded second-class mailers today.

The increase results from the postage-rate law enacted in December 1967, which raised most second-class rates in three annual steps, Postmaster Harman pointed out. The January 1, 1969, hike is the second phase of the increase. The first phase took effect January 7, 1968, and the third step will go into effect January 1, 1970.

The second-class-rate increase affects general-interest, non-profit and classroom publications.

Rates also will go up January 1 for controlled-circulation publications. These are primarily trade, technical and industrial journals which generally do not charge a subscription fee and are not eligible for second-class rates.

Except for home-county mailings, postal rates for newspapers and magazines mailed second-class are based on the weight of the publication, the amount of advertising it contains, and the distance it is mailed.

Second-class or controlled-circulation mailers who need more information on the new rates should contact the Post Office where their publications are mailed.

Recreation Review

Greenbelt Christmas Invitational Men's Basketball Tournament: The Greenbelt Recreation Department was host to eight teams during the 27th, 28th and 29th of December for an eight team single elimination, unlimited men's basketball tournament. In first round play, the "Choppers" trounced "Cheverly"; "Ledford Construction" defeated the coaches of "Greenbelt Boys Club"; "Zephers Restaurant" of Montgomery County defeated "N.A.S.A." by 12 points; and the "Government Printing Office" was narrowly defeated by "Anne Arundel County". In the finals, "Zephers Restaurant" defeated Greenbelt's "Choppers", sponsored by the Police Department and Center Merchants, 119 to 99. "Ledford Construction" went down to "Anne Arundel County". In the Sunday night finals, a large crowd saw "Zephers Restaurant" and "Anne Arundel County" play a nip and tuck game into the third quarter. The height advantage of "Zepher Restaurant" then dominated as they pulled away and took the game 90 to 78 to win the tournament championship. The High Scorer trophy went to Kreiger of Zephers.

Mini-Bikes and Go-Carts: The Recreation Department is taking an inventory of mini-bikes and go-carts presently owned by City residents to determine whether a program should be initiated. All those persons owning one of these vehicles, please call the Recreation Department, 474-6878, to register.

Adult Programs: The following adult programs will be offered starting in January. Sketching and oils; arts and crafts; ballroom dancing; ceramics; golf; guitar and square dancing. Call the Recreation Department for details as to starting date and fee.

Golden Age Club

The members of the Golden Age club of Greenbelt wish to thank Mrs. Martha Sutton of Spring Hill Lake for an enjoyable Christmas party she graciously gave for them December 13 and they wish her continued success as their recreational director.

There were over one hundred members present at the club's Christmas party December 18 at the Youth Center and everyone enjoyed the delicious food, gifts and cards and the entertainment. An old fashioned square dance finished off the party.

The next meeting of the club will be January 8, 1969.
